

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

- 5 A method for defraying the cost of a storage service for a divisible medical material comprising dividing said material into at least two portions, selling a first portion of said material and using the proceeds from said sale to defray the cost of storing a second portion of said material.